

Brigitte DRÉNO

Dermato-Oncologist.

Vice President to the Scientific and Technical Culture of Nantes University France.

Leading a research project included in the investments for the future hospital-university research in health (RHU) focusing on burn and regenerative dressing. Working also in the fields of melanoma, drug induced cutaneous adverse events and microbiome and acne.

Founder member of the European Association of Dermato- Oncology (EADO), past President of the French Society of Dermatology and French College of Dermatology Teachers, Treasurer of the International League of Dermatological Societies (ILDS).

Member of AAD, ADA, International Society for Cutaneous Lymphomas, Skin Cancer Foundation.

Has published over 928 publications, H-Index 875 with 800 articles referenced in PubMed and contributed to several books.

Built the first GMP cell and gene therapy hospital unit in France in Nantes.

Editorial Board Member of JEADV, Acta Dermatology, European Journal of Cancer Prevention and International Journal of women's Dermatology.

Awards include the Award of ILDS, the Prize of the International Society for Cutaneous Lymphomas, the Prize of the French Victories of Medicine.

Granted Chevalier of the Order of the Legion of Honour by the President of the French Republic as well as Chevalier in the Order of Academic Palms of Nantes's University and has recently been elected member of the French Academy of Medecine.