

Roderick James HAY

Visiting professor dermatologist, Dept Dermatol Inselspital, Univ Bern.

Roderick James Hay is Emeritus Professor of Cutaneous Infection, King's College London (KCL) and of Dermatology, Queens University Belfast (QUB) and is currently Consultant Dermatologist at the London Bridge Hospital. His clinical and research interests are Infectious and Tropical Diseases of the skin, particularly fungal infections.

He a former ILDS Board member and Chairman of the International Foundation of Dermatology. He is a member of the Global Mycetoma Working Group and has worked with WHO on Neglected Tropical Skin Diseases (Skin NTDs).

He is a member of the WHO technical Advisory Groups on a) Buruli ulcer and Skin NTDs, b) Implantation mycoses. He chairs the Technical Advisory committee of LEPPRA.