

Kenji KABASHIMA

Dr. Kabashima obtained his MD and PhD from Kyoto University in 1996 and 2003. Presently, he holds the esteemed position of chair/professor at the Department of Dermatology, Kyoto University Graduate School of Medicine, Japan.

Additionally, he serves as a distinguished Principal Investigator at the A*SRL in Singapore and holds the position of Lead Clinician Scientist at the National Skin Centre in Singapore.

His primary scholarly pursuits revolve around elucidating the mechanisms underlying inflammatory skin diseases and employing cutting-edge two-photon microscopy for the three-dimensional visualization of the skin. Noteworthy personal interests of his include indulging in running and exploring travel destinations.