

David SACEDA CORRALO

Dr David Saceda Corralo is a dermatologist who works in the Trichology Unit of Hospital Ramón y Cajal and Grupo de Dermatología Pedro Jaen, in Madrid (Spain).

His clinical activity is focused on hair loss and hair transplant. He is also a teacher in University of Alcalá, where he did his PhD on frontal fibrosing alopecia.

Today his clinical research is focused in immune-induced alopecias, such as frontal fibrosing alopecia and alopecia areata.

He has authored more than 100 scientific publications and coordinates the scientific content of the Máster de Tricología y Trasplante Capilar #TricoHRC.